Problem Statement:

Many students on campus struggle to connect with others in their classroom environments, especially given the large lecture halls in college. Our app aims to connect students with others enrolled in similar majors and disciplines to increase social studying opportunities, academic success, and scholastic comfort.

Who is experiencing the problem?

Certain students experience a lack of social inclusion in the school environment. We would like to extend our aid to those who are less socially active or struggle with making friends to facilitate a closer academic environment.

What is the problem?

Students, especially those who just arrived on campus, might find it difficult to connect with people who share the same major and academic goals. We would like to make it easier for students to make new academic friends and become closer to their community.

Where does the problem present itself?

This problem presents itself within the college classroom experience as students are shifting towards larger, overwhelming surroundings. Students who lack social skills or are uncomfortable in large groups may have trouble creating connections, and this may negatively affect their academic careers.

Why does it matter?

This software will create an opportunity for individuals to meet other students and study with people in their major. This will result in a more positive college experience, lasting relations with like-minded people, and healthier mental health cases.
